DECISION ON WESTLAKE TAXI CAB APPLICATION DUE MONDAY NIGHT

Application from the Westlake Cab Co. to begin operations here was put under submission until Monday night so that the council can make a study of the Hilltop Cab company's records.

At a public hearing Monday night George Kirchhubel, owner of Hilltop Cab, said that business here does not warrant operation of another taxi cab service, pointing out that out of gross revenue of $65,000, only $3000 net profit is left before taxes.

The applicants, Ray Spino, 467 Bosworth street, and George Korber, 2385 California street, asked to operate four cabs with base of operations in Westlake. Spino said he and his partner, both of whom have over six years cab driving experience, would offer around the clock service.

Thomas L. Bocci, Jr., representing Hilltop Cab, said that his client had offered good service for the past six years and that granting of a permit to another company would mean that rates would have to go up or service suffer in order that both companies might realize a fair profit.

Bocci, who claimed to also represent the "people of Daly City," said there have been no complaints as to the service offered by the present local company. He added that the burden rested on the applicants to prove that there was a demand for another company and he maintained that during the hearing they had offered no valid evidence of this demand.

Spino, commenting that he would have been more prepared had he "known that a learned attorney was to be here representing the opposition," presented a petition to the council containing names of Westlake residents and employees who favored the establishment of another company.

Spino insisted that Daly City people "do not have the transportation that's coming to them."

Consensus of Bocci's argument was that inadequate service by two companies was worse than good service by one.

VOCATIONS DAY AT JEFFERSON TO FEATURE MANY BAY AREA SPEAKERS

A roster of some 45 local and bay area speakers will address students at Jefferson Union high school Tuesday on Vocations Day, a bi-annual affair which gives the youth an opportunity to hear discussions of occupations by men and women active in their fields.

Opening the program will be a general assembly. Dr. Edward Redford, assistant superintendent in charge of secondary schools in San Francisco, will be the initial speaker.

Verducci To Speak

Joe Verducci, Daly City councilman and football coach at San Francisco State college, will speak to freshmen at a special assembly to be held in the gymnasium. This arrangement was made because the auditorium seats only 850, while enrollment at Jefferson is 1150.

Separate assemblies for girls and boys will be held during the day's activities. Miss Ada Wood, dean of girls, will speak on occupations for women in California, while Dr. James Saum of the county superintendent's office will address the boys' assembly.

In addition to the two assemblies each student will attend two "occupational group" meetings of his choosing.

Industries Cooperate

Speakers from industries throughout the Bay Area have been engaged for the program. The local high school reports that cooperation from the various businesses and industries have made it possible for this interesting and informative program to be presented.

Included in the day's talks will be:

Agriculture, Mr. M. K. Luther, Bureau of Agricultural Education; architecture and drafting, Mr. Mario J. Ciampi, architect; art, Mr. Ernest Mundt, California School of Fine Art; auto mechanics, Mr. Elmo Giavanetti, Timossi Motors; aviation, boys, Mr. W. D. Hecht, United Air Lines; girls, Miss Nancy Vande Luyster, United Air Lines.

Bank employment, Mr. D. D. Harris, Bank of America, Daly City; beauty culture, Miss Claudia Trenholm, California School of Beauty Culture; building trades, Mr. W. H. Diederichsen, Master Joint Apprentice Committee, San Mateo; cashiering, Mrs. Hadine Kauffman, the Emporium; civil service, Miss Patricia Rice, California State Personnel Board; clerical work, Mr. Emory C. Neel, Shell Oil Company; Mr. R. R. Howell, Standard Oil Company; cooking and baking, Mr. Pierre Coste, City College of San Francisco.

The local Community Chest drive was $50 further toward its goal after Monday night's city council meeting.

Councilmen agreed to donate that sum to the drive.

Westlake Yuletide Display Will Open

One of the largest individual Christmas displays in America this year will be officially opened to the children of the Bay Area, with the arrival of Santa Claus Saturday, 1:30 p.m., at Westlake's Town & Country Shopping Center in Daly City.

The lavish yuletide fairyland, appropriately titled, "Westlake Wonderland," has been constructed by Henry Doelger, Inc., prominent San Francisco builder and developer of the Westlake Community. Westlake Wonderland is the home of hundreds of colorful characters of fairy book and Christmas lore.

Set in a complete North Pole theme Westlake Wonderland has been under construction for the last three months and contains over 24,000 square feet of lumber, the equivalent of two six-room homes. Designed and painted by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stevenson, the spectacular display is the background for two miniature streamliners, replicas of the So. Pacific Shasta Daylight and the So. Pacific Los Angeles Daylight which will carry 75 children per trip through its magical settings.

Valued at $25,000, the Westlake Wonderland Xmas display will run from November 29 through Jan. 1. Santa will have free gifts and candy for all the children visiting his Wonderland headquarters.

Allen Sentencing Is Delayed Temporarily

OLPH Fund Drive At $127,830 Figure

The debt retirement fund campaign for Our Lady of Perpetual Help church reached $127,830 this week and is expected to reach $135,000 before the drive ends.

Father James Bergin, pastor, and John Muller, general chairman, said they felt the total would reach that figure after solicitations had been made from those not at home on the night of the campaign's kick-off, Nov. 9.

Contributions and pledges have been coming in daily, according to Muller.

The last report meeting of those working in the campaign was held Thursday, Nov. 20.

CHANGE OF NAMES FOR COLMA AVENUES IS PROPOSED

The county planning commission will act within a week or two on proposed change of names for two avenues in Colma.

It was proposed to rename First avenue, south of Colma, to Hill street, and Second avenue, also south of Colma, to Reinier street.

A total of 24 street and road changes were proposed to the commission at their recent meet.

DECISION IS DUE ON LOCAL CENTER

Recreation Commission Scheduled To Discuss Future Programs, Supervision

The recreation commission was scheduled to meet Wednesday night to discuss future administration of the Community Center.

Among items to be taken up were: Schedule for use of facilities; fees and charges for use of facilities; program of activities; supervision; maintenance; and budget.

Progress reports were also scheduled to be heard on development and renovation of recreation facilities. Those listed were: Utility buildings for playgrounds; Marchbanks park—lines for courts, lights for adult softball, skinned infield for softball, repair of skinned areas for baseball diamond; Lincoln—surfacing and court lines, extension of fence in back of basketball backboard, protection against children climbing into light well.

Edgewood—provision for drainage along west boundary; Frankfort—provision for drainage; safety features as recommended by fire department; developments since last meeting—Frankfort water system and two sections of concrete pipe for Marchbanks sand area.

Developments which are planned for completion in the near future were scheduled to come up for discussion. They were: New level, curbs, loam, water system, hedges, turf and walk at Lincoln; clay for infield area red rock for exit and building area and a water fountain at Frankfort; flagpole, permanent ping pong table, water fountains, benches, concrete pipe sections for sand area, hopscotch courts, shuffleboard courts and bicycle courts for sand areas at Edgewood. The status of Ed Mosconi, recreation supervisor, on arrival of the new full-time director was also slated for consideration.

Ray Brulez said at Monday night's council meeting that the "veterans have been left out in the cold" in making any decision toward administration of the Community Center.

He said veterans and other interested groups had been awaiting some word from the council. Brulez added that he was surprised when he read in THE RECORD that administration of the building had been turned over to the Recreation commission.

Mayor Anthony Gaggero said the building was only being turned over to the recreation commission for the time being.

Councilman Paul Green said he was "getting tired of these cry-baby tactics" by the veterans and said it would behoove them to attend the council meetings if they wished to participate more actively in civic affairs.

Disregarded Them

Brulez replied that the council appealed to local organizations to help put the center bond issue over, but disregarded them in policy making after it had failed.

Green explained that public meetings are held on such matters and information is released to the press. The suggestion was made earlier by Brulez that perhaps a three mill tax could be levied to bring in necessary funds for completing the building. He pointed out that $48,000 a year is gained in San Bruno by this method.

General Fund Money

Gaggero said that it would not be of advantage to start such a tax because at least $48,000 could be taken from the general fund yearly to go towards finishing the structure.

Brulez' final comment was that "some plans for the future of the center ought to be formulated."

Polio Incidence Is High Here for Month

HEALTH DEPARTMENT RECORDS THREE CASES

Daly City stood high on the list of polio incidence for the month of October as compared with other county areas.

A total of three cases were reported here by the county's department of health for that month. Only Redwood City had a higher incidence of the disease, 11 cases being reported. South San Francisco, San Mateo and Menlo Park also had three cases reported for the month.

The health department reports that the peak load of cases usually occurs about this time of year in the county. Until October the incidence of polio in the county had been well below the normal average but during that month 27 cases, with two deaths, were recorded.

Age distribution in polio cases has been fairly uniform throughout the county, with the following figures being announced: under 4, 13 cases; 5-19, 28 cases; 20-29, 14 cases; 30-39, 5 cases.

The health department also advised county residents not to become overly optimistic about reports on prophylactic injections for temporary immunity against polio or vaccines which give permanent immunity. "Please bear in mind that neither procedure is a new idea. During the 1930-40 period thousands of California children received prophylactic injections which was hoped would give temporary protection. Also during the same years several thousand California children received a vaccine which was expected to produce permanent immunity. It also fell by the wayside. The products used in both these attempts looked quite promising when used on small numbers, but could not stand up to extended tests," the health department warned.

The department added that "the products being tested at the present time are only refinements of the same products used in the past."

Incidence of other diseases in Daly City for the month were: gonorrhea, 1; measles, 1; scarlet fever, 2; and syphilis, 1.

4 ESCAPE DEATH AS CAR OVERTURNS

Youths Playing "Tag" When Wreck Occurs

Three San Francisco youths and a girl escaped serious injury here Friday night when their car overturned five times and burst into flames during a game of "fender tag."

The car, estimated to be travelling 70 miles per hour, turned over on the Alemany boulevard extension.

A 1941 sedan, driven by William Joseph Francis, 21, a carpenter of 76 Belcher street, San Francisco, was chasing another car down Alemany boulevard in Westlake. The vehicle, attempting to pass the other car on the right side, apparently struck the soft shoulder of the highway and careened out of control.

Police officers said Francis' car was chasing the vehicle driven by Richard Castro, 19, of 211 Aviator avenue, Millbrae, after the youths in both vehicles became involved in an argument at the beach at San Francisco. When Castro attempted to leave the scene, Francis and a group of friends allegedly pursued him.

When the cars passed Officer David Johnstone, sitting in his patrol car at Skyline boulevard near Alemany boulevard, they were said to be travelling 70 miles an hour.

As he began to chase the speed-

Kids Delight at Extravagant Westlake Christmas Wonderland

LAST MINUTE work on the Christmas Wonderland animated exhibit at Westlake is taken care of here. The two miniature trains will traverse part of the exhibit. The train roadbed and the toyland panoramas required more than 24,000 feet of lumber to build. Santa is scheduled to make an early visit at the Westlake scene Saturday, Nov. 29, at 1:30 p.m.

Action Due Soon On Burned Out Building

Action in removal of the burned out building on Lowell and Frankfort streets should come within the next two weeks, according to City Attorney Frank Blum.

Blum, in answer to a query put out to the council by Walt Gillies, 212 Frankfort, said that disposition of an estate, of which the building is a part, is underway at present and will be completed within a short time.

Gillies said he and other residents of the area were growing impatient with the delay in council on the unsightly structure.

HIGH SCHOOL ASKS CITY FOR GUARD

"They're just trying to get off the hook" was the way Police Chief Roland Petrocchi described the Jefferson high school's request to the council for an officer to guard students crossing in front of the school.

The high school district asked that someone be on hand in the morning, at noon, and for a short time after school lets out to regulate traffic while students cross on Mission.

Councilman Paul Green said that the school district has funds to hire guards at school crossings and therefore should not ask the city to provide such service.

Green suggested that, since the crossing is a state highway, the district make some attempt to secure revenue from the state or from their own funds.

Petrocchi pointed out that the police force is short-handed. He said he had suggested students might be able to act as traffic officers, but that Stanford Hannah, superintendent of the district, had not approved the idea.

The police chief said that the task would develop into a six or seven hour a day job for a local officer and the personnel could not be spared.

Petrocchi said the force had supplied a man there recently, but this left only one man to patrol Daly City.

He offered the installation of traffic lights there as a solution. The council agreed to contact Hannah and ask that he check other sources of revenue for providing crossing safety for students.

Seven Cubs Join Boy Scout Troop 84

The Nov. 20th meeting of Pack 34 Cub Scouts was held in the Broadmoor Presbyterian church. A canned goods sale raised a welcome $31 for the treasury. Winners of the three big boxes were Mr. L. H. Moon, Ricky Sater, and Mrs. Robert Neff. Four-year-old Ana Cheda drew the winning tickets.

Pack 84 is going to join the West of Twin Peaks Cub Scout baseball league. Any Cubs interested in joining the Pack 84 team must let their Den Mothers know. Thirty boys are needed for the two teams that will be formed in the Pack. They will be under the supervision of Mr. Bernard Christman, the Athletic Director. In the inspection, Dens 2, 4 and 6 led for first place and received stars for the flag. Dens 3, 7 and 8 received red stars for full parent attendance. The Pack was honored by the presence of the new Scout Master of Troop 84, Mr. Kenneth Hansen.

He congratulated the following Webelos Cubs for having graduated from Cubs, and welcomed them into Boy Scout Troop 84: Jed Cyr, Arthur Shanoian, Robert Noll, Howard McKee, Lee Schaeffer, Harry Jacobs, Robert Garretson.

Meet Your Junior Traffic Patrolmen-Holy Angels School

HOLY ANGELS school just opened this year but junior traffic patrolmen are already on the job there. The patrolmen just received their belts and other equipment, and have been organized under the supervision of Officer Henry Sundermann (standing in back of group). As a rule, boys must be in the sixth grade or above to be eligible, but the new school only goes through the fifth grade, so an exception was made here, Sundermann said. The patrolmen at the Holy Angels school take care of aiding children across San Pedro road and Washington street. The roster includes (left to right, first row): Lieutenant Patrick Hoffmann, James Mayer, Terry Tracey, Nicholas Frank, James Teeter and Captain Michele Maffei; second row, James Eberle, Neal Cabrera, Charles Terry, Brent Smith, John Buccelli, and Timothy Buckeley.

One Move in the Right Direction

The realignment of Skyline boulevard into a four-lane freeway will be one move in the direction of solving the peninsula's haphazard movement of traffic.

Some 3500 vehicles travel the Skyline road daily, and as many as 8700 on Sundays. During those times of year when the coast route is closed, at least a third of the year, the Skyline route has as high as 10-11,000 cars travelling it.

The maximum traffic for a two-lane highway is 5000 cars, reports assistant highway engineer B. W. Booker. The figures tell the tale.

Even were the coast route kept open the year round, which would mean a ruinously high cost for maintenance, Skyline would still be supporting a traffic burden.

But maintaining the coast route, which is plagued by erosion from its underside and sliding cliffs from the top, would be an undertaking of utmost assiduity.

Even the state's engineers now realize they made a mistake when they built a highway that is lying directly over a fault that is constantly active. On building the coast route they hoped that the road would stabilize itself after a time, but their prognostications proved wrong.

A four-lane lighted freeway from Daly City to Edgemar won't solve all the traffic problems, but it sounds a whale of a lot better than the existing arrangement.

Newest Report on "Subversive" Activities

We wonder how the local fluoridation opponents will take a report issued recently by the American Municipal association that says 214 cities and towns are adding fluoride to their public water supplies.

This figure, the association adds, includes about 5,000,000 people who are getting fluoride in their water by artificial means.

Quoting statistics being one of the favorite tactics of the anti-fluoridation element, we imagine they'll get out pencil and paper and figure out that now 1/30th of our population has been mesmerized by the definitely communist instigated fluoridation.

They'll also probably try to tell you that 214 cities and towns in America have now gone down the road of no return and are lost to the ways of democracy.

Undoubtedly they'll cook up some good story about our lost citizens, but as yet we've heard of no uprising of the proletariat in the 214 cities, and until we do, we must look a little askance at the fanatical cry that fluoridation is un-American, un-religious, subversive, illegal, and so on ad infinitum.

Eighth Grader Sums Up Fire Prevention Local Residents On Board of Council Of Social Agencies

Florence Verducci, an eighth grade student at Colma School, won top honors in a recent district wide fire prevention week contest, sponsored by the Daly City fire department. She submitted an essay entitled, "Fire Prevention," and will be awarded an engraved medal for her efforts. This essay showed a remarkable understanding of the need for fire prevention and is presented here as a reminder to all of us that fire can be costly:

Is fire a friend or a foe? When fire is controlled, it is a wonderful and useful friend to man, but one trick of fate can turn it into a deadly enemy, ravaging and destroying everything in its path.

Fire heats man's home and runs many of his factories and trains, but think what damage it can bring and what havoc it can cause.

In recent years the most important causes of fire were the throwing away of lighted cigarettes and matches, defective chimneys, boilers, stoves and furnaces. Across this picture can be written only one word. That word is carelessness. Most fires could have been prevented.

Other countries realize that forests will come to an end unless they are well protected. It is like a large sum of money, carelessly spent at first, until the owner realizes it will soon diminish unless it is protected. The United States is learning that same lesson with her forests.

In the average city the fire department is usually controlled by a fire commissioner. The Fire Department uses modern fire fighting equipment. This is a big step from the old "bucket brigade."

Each year in October, a date set by the anniversary of the terrible Chicago fire in 1871, fire prevention week is observed.

Don't forget. When the fire goes up in America, we all help pay it.

Please help save our forests and our homes. Only you and I can do

P.G.&E. to Present Service Awards

Pacific Gas and Electric Company will present service badges to 257 San Francisco Division employees next Tuesday, Dec. 2, in recognition of years of service ranging up to 45 years for one employee and 40 years by three other employees, J. A. Rohl, Daly City local manager of the company, announced today.

The badges will be presented by Division Manager Grover S. Tracy at a banquet at 6 p.m. at the San Francisco Elks Club. In this and similar ceremonies throughout Northern and Central California the company is presenting badges to 2900 of its more than 18,000 employees, Rohl said.

"P. G. and E. believes that the public is best served by men and women who enjoy their jobs and takes pride in the exceptional record of its employees for long tenure," Rohl said. "The company takes this means of expressing its appreciation to these employees for their loyal service."

William H. Thompson, who rose from apprentice in the electric department to superintendent of substations, is the employee with the top tenure record of 45 years. A native San Franciscan, Thompson entered the company in 1907. He now is responsible for the operation and maintenance of half a hundred substations from which power is distributed in Daly City and throughout the San Francisco Division, from small neighborhood installations to the great Mission Substation, a landmark at 8th and Mission streets near the San Francisco Civic Center, which cost nearly $5 million to build.

In addition, awards will include ten 35-year badges, 23 for 30 years' service; 22 for 25 years, 9 for 20 years, 25 for 15 years, 17 for 10 years and 147 for five years, Rohl said.

American Legion Head Says Success Of Prop. No. 1 Due To Newspaper Support

Dear Sir:

During the last political campaign the American Legion, Department of California, through its Veterans Home and Farm Committee, sent you various releases concerning Proposition No. 1 on the ballot, which proposition when adopted by the people, would continue the program of the State of California for aid to California veterans in the purchase of homes and farms.

The idea of such a program was conceived by the American Legion back in the early 20's, and since that time the people of the State of California have, by their adoption of eight different bond issues including the approval of the current bond issue, continued the program in force and effect.

This program was adopted in lieu of any bonus and has resulted in thousands of our California Veterans being able to purchase homes and farms and to make themselves an integral part of their local community.

Proposition No. 1 carried by a very substantial majority and the American Legion is of the opinion that the success of the proposition in your community largely stems from the fact that you so graciously gave publicity to the merits of the plan.

On behalf of the American Legion, Department of California, its Veterans Home and Farm Campaign Committee, the Legionnaires generally, and the veterans of the State of California, I wish to express to you our deep appreciation of the help and assistance given to us in the campaign.

Sincerely yours,
JOHN D. HOME

Brownies, Scouts Will Sponsor Christmas Basket

By Annette Regis

The Brownies and Girl Scouts of the 101 Parkview District are sponsoring a Christmas basket for the veterans at the Veterans hospital in Palo Alto. They feel that this project is helping someone who is well in need of it. Because of the generosity and kindness of the public, most veteran hospitals are well taken care of at Christmas time, but the patients at this hospital have not been, and in some cases, are completely forgotten. Let's all work together and show them that they are not forgotten and do something about it. They are in need of a number of things listed here, so troop No. 148 will accept all contributions on Friday, Dec. 12, at the 101 Parkview Scout House from 1:30 to 5 p.m.

Men's ward: talcum powder, jigsaw puzzles, T-shirts, pajamas, socks, face cloths, candy, cookies, fruit, nuts.

Women's ward: powder, face or talc, cologne (in stick form), face cloths, hosiery, candy, cookies, fruit, nuts.

Also wanted are magazines, no older than three months and not consisting of murder stories or any books pertaining to housekeeping. Nothing sharp or in glass containers, no soap. The clothes do not have to be new but they should be in good condition, clean and folded.

Vets Under Korea Training Bill Can Get Checks Now

Veterans training under the Korean GI Bill may get their GI allowance checks from the date they started class, even though there's been an unavoidable delay by the States in approving schools.

VA announced today that it has authorized its Regional Offices to back-date school approvals, provided that, first, the State Agency has checked the school no later than Dec. 1, and, second, the State Approving Agency determines that the school met all the standards of training set up in the law, and certifies this fact to the VA.

The retroactive approvals may go back either to Aug. 20, 1952, the date the new GI training program became effective, or to the date when the veterans enrolled in class—whichever came later.

In that way, veteran-students may be paid for all the time they spent in the classroom—so long as it was after August 20—and not just from the date the State approved their school.

State approval of a school is a "must" under the Korean GI Bill. The law states that veterans may not receive GI education and training allowances for any period during which the school was not approved.

In many instances throughout the nation, however, the flood of fall enrollments came about before the state agencies had a chance to act. The result was that large

U. S. Post Office Issues Red Cross 3-Cent Stamp

On Nov. 21, the United States Postal department issued a 3-cent International Red Cross commemorative postage stamp through the New York post office, in conjunction with the three day National Postage Stamp Show in the American Stamp Dealers Association. At the show, the history of the International Red Cross will be featured.

Founding of Group

The founding of this organization with its modern concept of comprehensive organized relief on a world-wide scale, was largely the result of the vision and perseverance of a young Swiss businessman, Henri Dunant. Through his efforts, in Geneva, Switzerland, on Aug. 22, 1864, the Geneva Convention for the alleviation of the sufferings of soldiers wounded on the battlefield, was held. Sixteen governments were represented by delegates, eleven of whom signed the treaty. The United States was represented at the Convention but did not sign the treaty until eighteen years later.

The Committee of Five consisting of Henri Dunant and four other Swiss citizens who had brought about the convention and the establishment of the organization, became the International Committee of the Red Cross. Its purpose was to guide the activities of the newly established world organization, to see to it that the signatory nations lived up to their agreements, to admit new signatories to the Red Cross family of nations, to refine the original plans and to explore the possibilities of the extension of activities.

Swiss Citizens

The Committee has continued to function, its membership increased to a maximum of twenty-five. All are citizens of Switzerland. In international relationships, particularly as they pertain to war, the International Committee is the final authority and commands the respect of the world.

Although the Red Cross was founded to relieve suffering and to save lives in war, its activities have grown and expanded with enlarged vision in a progressing world. Its field is as big as the needs of humanity. It is the embodiment of world-wide neighborliness. All that has to do with relieving distress, imposed by disaster, and making individual and community life safer, happier and more efficient, is within the scope of the Red Cross.

8 COMMUNITIES PARTICIPATE IN DISASTER MEET

Representatives from eight communities throughout the county recently participated in a Disaster Institute at the San Mateo county chapter, American Red Cross. The meeting was called by Mrs. Barney Bristow, chairman of the Registration and Information committee for disaster service.

Mrs. Grace Wise, disaster representative from the Pacific Area Office of Red Cross, conducted the institute. The group was given detailed information concerning the functions of Red Cross during a natural disaster, and the varying responsibilities of government and Red Cross were pointed out.

During the afternoon session, the group was given a typical disaster problem to work on, and discussion was active. Representatives who participated in the training will be available, in the event of disaster, to help with the registration of disaster victims and the granting of Red Cross emergency assistance to families or individuals.

Present from Millbrae were Ed Nightengale and Mrs. Roger Staley, members of the Evacuation Division of Civil Defense, and Mesdames W. S. Firmstone, C. J. McKeever, George J. Davis, C. DRY RUN FOR A CADILLAC

By RIDGELY CUMMINGS

Offhand I don't know the origin of the expression "dry run," though I would guess that it derives from some sort of training experience in the late war. Anyway I know what it means, namely a practice effort during which the best ammunition is withheld.

That's what this essay is, a dry run for 25 grand.

General Motors, as you may have heard, is offering a total of $194,000 in prizes for the best essays on improving the nation's highways. The first prize is $25,000, the second $10,000, the third $5,000, the fourth, fifth and sixth $3,000 each.

Right now I'd be willing to settle for sixth prize but even the ones that follow are not to be sneezed at. The best essay submitted from each of nine regions like New England, Mountain, Middle Atlantic and Pacific gets $2,500, and then there are awards for each state worth $1,500 each. Which makes me wish momentarily that I lived in a state like Nevada or Rhode Island where the competition will be less intense.

If all these figures don't add up to $194,000 it is because I've left out 98 minor prizes of $500 each. It is obvious that this is a contest well worth entering. To win, all you have to do is write an original essay telling General Motors "how to plan and pay for the safe and adequate highways we need."

When the contest was announced a week or so ago I promptly went to a Cadillac dealer on Vine Street in the heart of Hollywood to get an entry blank with all the necessary information. It was a little embarrassing because at first the man thought I wanted to buy one of his big, shiny cars.

He had me testing the upholstery of a luxurious Cadillac convertible and listening to a sales talk based on snob appeal before I could explain that all I wanted at the moment was an official contest entry form. To temper his disappointment and make me feel better about the loss of time and vocal energy, I left my name and address and promised to give him my business if and when I won first prize.

Instead of going on home and writing the winning essay, I put the booklet and entry blank in my pocket and went to a rehearsal of the Vine Street Chamber Group, of which I am impresario. There, when the musical rendition of a Mozart quartet permitted, I pulled out the propaganda and read choice excerpts aloud.

The result was that everybody began giving me tips on how to win the prize. Their suggestions were well-meant but not of the sort to be appreciated by General Motors or any manufacturer of automobiles.

For example, currently there are 53 million motor vehicles on the highways, far too many for the available road space, hence parking headaches, traffic jams and blood curdling accidents.

An obvious potential solution is to reduce the number of vehicles. G. M. won't like that idea however since their future is tied up with making and selling more and more of them and as a matter of fact they hopefully predict that by 1975 there will be 80 million vehicles on the highways.

That's why I call this essay a dry run. When I get around to sending in my 25 grand block buster I'll use different ammunition but right now it seems to me that reducing the number of cars in city streets is the immediately evident answer to a part of the traffic problem.

According to the authorities I have consulted, half of all traffic is on city streets. That means 25 million cars milling around on traffic arteries which were mostly designed for pedestrians and street car and trolley bus riders.

If in another two decades we are going to have 80 million cars on the road and half of these crawling around in our cities, obviously we'll either have to scrap the cars or rebuild the cities.

So my solution, Dr. Robert Sproul (I invoke his name because the president of the University of California is one of the judges) is to make it uneconomical to drive a car downtown by providing free public transportation in congested areas.

Already with traffic tickets, parking prices and clogged streets full of red-faced, horn-toting, frustrated motorists it is not economical to drive downtown. But people do it because public transportation is equally slow, crowded, inadequate and costly.

With municipally owned buses and streetcars free to all comers, the problem would melt away. Drivers would park on the periphery of the downtown areas and top one of the numerous, fast and comfortable public conveyances to transact their business and their pleasure.

With no fishing for change, hunting for elusive tokens and waiting for transfers to be inspected and punched, passengers would board and alight with alacrity, bus drivers could devote their attention to the road instead of the coin box and everything would be hunky-dory.

Also the downtown merchants, who are being murdered nowadays by neighborhood competitors equipped with parking lots, could get out of the red. They would do enough business to enable them to pay a large part of the cost of the free transportation in increased property taxes.

I had other ideas and my musical associates came forth with suggestions like making it mandatory for auto salesmen to supply a horse and a bale of hay to each purchaser, forcing each filling station proprietor to erect a four story garage on his premises and shooting on sight all truck drivers who double park. But this is enough for a dry run.

For readers who are convinced that I have now got the first prize in the bag with this gem and who want to compete for the numerous consolation awards worth from $10,000 to $5,000, just a final bit of information.

The contest closes March 1, 1953. Anybody who can write in English is eligible. Each essay must be submitted with an entry blank. You don't have to promise to buy a Cadillac to get one. All dealers are supposed to supply them on demand.

And the address where they are holding all this loot for us is: General Motors Better Highway Awards, General Motors Building, Detroit 2, Michigan.

AROUND THE AREA

Hook-nose Crook

A bandit, described as hook-nosed, held up 15 persons at the Green Frog restaurant and bar on Woodside road, west of Redwood City last week and escaped with $170 in cash. Four burglaries, including a $1000 haul at a Woodside residence, boosted an overnight crime wave in the county to sizeable proportions.

Fourteen patrons of the Green Frog, 1607 Woodside road, and the bartender, Howard Dean, told sheriff's deputies that a slender young man with a large hook nose protruding over a blue bandanna covering the lower part of his face, entered the bar at 8:45 p.m., brandishing a blue steel .38 calibre revolver.

"Put your hands on the bar. I want the money," he ordered. Dean told Deputy Sheriff William Moran that the stick-up man refused small change, but accepted about $170 in currency and half dollars and quarters.

Serra Extension

Extension of Junipero Serra boulevard and conversion of Bayshore freeway to an eight lane arterial are two more major projects growing out of the study of California highways made by the Automotive Safety Foundation of Washington, D. C., the same group that has recommended highway expenditures of more than $85,000,000 in San Mateo county.

J. P. Buckley, chief engineer for the foundation, declared extension of Serra boulevard would permit it

Hot Spot

The hotly contested application of Marco Marengo for permission to enlarge the restaurant and bar at Manguini's, favorite hangout for Stanford students on Alpine road, received a recommendation of denial from the county planning commission last week.

A dozen residents of the area were on hand at the meet to complain against the noise coming from the club and the traffic created by patrons.

Sheriff Earl B. Whitmore reported that since July 7 his deputies have been called to the place five times to investigate disturbances and that there have been numerous other complaints. The latest police call was on election night when deputies quelled a near-riot among hundreds of Stanford students.

Recommend Dismissal

The city personnel board of South San Francisco has found Charles Johnston, 31-year-old policeman suspended Sept. 11 on charges he left his post, guilty of the accusations and recommended to the council that he be fired.

Antonio Gaudio, Johnston's attorney, has formally requested a copy of the board's finding and that he be allowed to plead his client's case before the city council on Dec. 1.

JEFFS LOSE THIRD PAL Hears Report On League Division

SJ Breaks Deadlock In Fourth Period

The Jefferson Indians muffed their chance to move up the league ladder last week as they were turned back in the final minutes of play by the San Jose Bulldogs, 31-19.

The southerners' win, gained by virtue of two touchdowns in the last five minutes of play, put them in a first place tie for PAL leadership with Burlingame, and left the Jeffs in seventh place with three wins, three losses.

All Tied Up

The score was tied 19-19 in the last quarter when San Jose showed over the score to put them in the lead. Then in the closing seconds of the game they wound up a sustained drive with another TD giving them an unsurmountable advantage.

San Jose scored first in the game on a 65-yard run by half-back Paul Neva after he had recovered a Jeff fumble.

Early in the second period half-back Emilio Rubalcaba went 13 yards for another score and end Bill DiCristina scored the third six-pointer on a 10-yard pass from Quarterback Mitz Fukushima.

Rosa's Passing

Jefferson's scores were due largely to the adept passing of Quarterback Ray Rosa one of the league's leading grid aerialists.

The first Indian TD came on a 35-yard pass from Rosa to Wally Honeywell halfback. Rosa then tossed two TD passes to John Minor to knot the contest up until the fatal fourth period.

The loss was the fifth of the season for the Jeffs against three wins.

In other PAL contests last week San Mateo and Palo Alto tied, 7-7; Burlingame downed Willow Glen, 32-27; Sequoia blanked Menlo-Atherton, 15-0; Lincoln bested Capuchino, 33-7.

In Days of Old, The Boxers Were Bold

4 DOZEN ROUNDS ALL IN A DAY'S WORK

It was Saturday evening, about 6 o'clock, 39 years back, and the two fighters, doused in blood, came out for their 43rd round as the fog cut visibility to nearly zero.

Leech Cross, dentist from the east, finally did what he'd been trying to do to his opponent, Dick Hyland, for 42 weary rounds—summoning all his energy he flattened him.

Those spectators at the county line arena who weren't fortunate enough to be in the first two rows hadn't the slightest inkling of what took place until the ring siders notified them—the fog was too thick.

Best of All

However, Arthur J. Bodien, Supt. of the water department, had a good seat on that occasion and he describes the fight as the greatest of the many held in Daly City in the era gone by.

Bodien, an avid fight fan, always managed to get free ducats, being well known here, and usually availed himself of the opportunity to take in the fistie fests.

In those days attending boxing matches was the only real pleasure and there was no real business to speak of—other than the matches.

Affluent Promoter

Promoted by Jim Crawford, or "Sonny Jim" as he was known in fight circles, the bloody encounters at the county line arena, located at what is now Sikes and Hanover, often drew as many as 4000 spectators and made "Sonny Jim" an enviable bankroll. The crowd was sometimes rowdy, and always noisy.

At times combatants in the audience sometimes provided a better show than that going on in the ring. Bodien says it was not high-

San Mateo College Gridders Get Relief As Season Closes

RACK UP LAST LOSS OF SEASON FRIDAY

Football has ended at San Mateo Junior College and basketball is now the major sport of the day. The Bulldogs lost their final grid game, 18-0, Friday afternoon on the San Mateo field to the Big Seven Conference champion, Stockton College. Although losing, the Mateans held the champions to one of their lowest scores of the season.

Coach Ray Balsley and his hoopers give indication that a San Mateo is to be strong this year in the court game. The team has a full quota of tall, experienced players, and four of the 12-man squad are veterans from the 1951 team, the group that lost the title in the final quarter of the last game of the 1951 season. While San Mateo will be playing several practice games this week and next the first home game is scheduled for Friday December 12.

Daily rehearsals for the forthcoming term play, the comedy "Lo and Behold," are now being held under the guidance of Director Melvin Ellett. The cast was selected by all-college tryouts and is made up of boys and girls drawn from San Mateo, Burlingame and Mountain View. Other communities will be represented in the large staff of assistants needed to arrange for sets, properties and costumes and to handle the ticket sales and other matters.

The San Mateo Flying Club, which owns its own plane, is considering buying another plane. The college flyers will host the annual California Collegiate Flying meet which will be held soon. Last year San Mateo was second, losing to California.

ly irregular for an overly enthusiastic member of the audience to be carried prostrate from his $2 seat after being thrashed soundly by a fan close-by. Usually prejudices as to the outcome of the match, as a rule brought about by a sizeable wage on one of the battlers, were the cause of these intra-audience flurries.

Uprising Against Law

On one occasion the entire audience turned against the police, warned over the fence and refused to pay one thin dime to watch the sporting event. However rebellion against the police was not an act of extreme bravery, since the force usually consisted of only City residents who offered to serve as auxiliary officers and they were a prudent lot, not willing to risk life and limb to maintain the public order for such pittance as they received.

The police "force" proper consisted of Fred Hooper, who was at once Captain, Lieutenant, Sergeant and any other title of the yendarmerie he cared to bestow upon himself.

Boxing did a land office business here because most of the San Franciscans came to Daly City to enjoy the exciting sport. Matches were held in San Francisco but the number of rounds allowed were far below the 30 maximum here, and therefore not of an equal "sporting" magnitude.

A total of three arenas were on hand here to quench the public's thirst for battle and they always had ample followers.

Free Entrance

Local fans were more fortunate than their kin from across the line, since they, as Bodien says, almost always got free tickets. Prices in those days were not far removed from those of today, be-

Indians 10s Lose Six But Still Come Out Third in League

JEFFERSON'S 10s lost some close ones this year in final minutes of play and wound up with four wins against six losses, which was good enough to give them a tie for third in league play. Two Vets To Bolster Indian Varsity Attack

As football at Jefferson bows out via the South San Francisco tilt on Thanksgiving day, basketball steps in at the local high school.

A total of 55 players, varsity and 30s, have already reported and Coach Mike Orlich expects another 35 this Monday.

Top hopes for the varsity will rest on two veterans who stood well up in the hierarchy of league talent.

Don Delbon, forward, was chosen to the All-PAL varsity second team last year. The young cager, who is a junior this year, was also third highest scorer in the league with 138 points in 11 games.

His partner in the forward spot, Larry Blanchard, returns this year for his final year of play. Blanchard received honorable mention to the varsity All-PAL team, and was seventh high scorer with 138 points in the 11 game sked.

Orlich says that a Santa Cruz transfer, Wayne Lovelace, has looked good to date. The 6 ft. 1. in. player will attempt to fill the center spot.

Some of last year's 20s who may return to bolster the 30s or varsity are: Art Reynor, Jack Plunkett, Wesley Yats, Jim Watson, Al Lagomarsino, Al Figone and Tom Costello. This outfit lost only two games in '51 competition.

JEFFERSON WOULD BE IN SEVEN TEAM NORTHERN CIRCUIT

The Board of Managers of the Peninsula Athletic League held a meeting as a committee of the whole to hear a report of a committee of three of its members on a tentative division of the Peninsula Athletic League into a Northern and a Southern section, such division to be the basis of schedule-making in football, basketball and baseball until such time as the number of schools grows to such extent as to force a separation of the present Peninsula Athletic League into two separate leagues.

Though this tentative division of the league has not been officially adopted, the commissioner of the league has been instructed to bring to the next meeting a series of proposed schedules based upon this division for adoption at that meeting. If one set of these schedules appears satisfactory to the member schools, then the proposed division, together with the schedule, will be adopted.

The proposed division of the league now under consideration would separate the present Athletic League into the following:

 Jefferson Union High School

The Jefferson Indians yesterday met South San Francisco's Warriors in what constitutes the big game of the year for both teams and also the final grid contest of the season for both schools.

The South San Franciscans, undisputed league leaders during the first few weeks of the season, suffered two losses recently and only by a victory in the big game can emerge in second spot. The Jeffs have three wins against an equal number of losses.

The Indians will count on the hard running of Backs Wally Honeywell and Nick Boekwink-el, the sharp passing of Ray Rosa, and the equally agile pass-catching ability of Ends Jim Minor and Bill Butler.

Not only to the victors belong the spoils, but to the school and team voted most sportsmanlike in the contest. The trophy is awarded by the Lions club and impartial judges decide the verdict.

THE OUTDOORS

Too Late
SAN FRANCISCO—The inauguration of a series of new gun safety laws in California last year came too late to affect the 1951 hunting accident toll of 17 deaths and 48 wounded. Department of Fish and Game statistics show.

Department Director Seth Gordon announced last year's hunting casualty list as the seasonal peak of hunters was afield in pursuit of bears, upland game and waterfowl.

"It is hoped," Gordon said, "that the accident figures will make the few careless hunters think before they shoot."

The 1951 death toll among California hunters tops the 11 recorded in 1950, but falls far below the all-time record of 38 hunter deaths in 1948. The 1951 totals do not include mishaps from causes other than gunfire, Gordon stated.

The carrying of loaded guns in vehicles—illegal since September, 1951—cost the lives of at least five hunters and accounted for wounds among six others last year. Two died and 18 were wounded while in the line of fire, or when mistaken for game.

Four fatalities and 16 wounds were self-inflicted, while seven died and 18 were wounded by other hunters. Rifles accounted for 34 accidents, and shotguns were involved in 31 of the year's cases.

Gordon, a director of the National Rifle Association, said that nearly half of the accidents could have been prevented if hunters were observing State laws. Safety regulations now in the Fish and Game Code include prohibitions against shooting within 150 yards of an occupied building, hunting while intoxicated, carrying a loaded gun in a vehicle, shooting from a road and failure to offer aid to an injured hunter.

WESTLAKE PTA MEETS DEC. 2; PLAN CHRISTMAS CANASTA PARTY LATER

Children To Provide Christmas Program

The next meeting of the Westlake Parent-Teacher association will be held in the auditorium of Jefferson high school, 6996 Mission street, Thursday evening, Dec. 4, at 8 p.m. The change in meeting place for this month is due to the large number of children who will participate in the entertainment following a short business meeting.

The Christmas spirit will prevail in the program presented by 140 children from the Westlake school. Among the presentations will be a skit based on the Legend of the First Christmas Tree, Rhythm Band, Selections from the Glee Club, Folk Dancing and a program of Christmas Carols from here and abroad.

There will be a cake sale of homemade cakes following the meeting. The cakes will be donated by the fifth grade mothers.

Auxiliary Honors Mother Harper

At Tuesday night's regular meeting of Colma Vista Grande Auxiliary No. 1848 the group honored the mother of the auxiliary, Margaret Harper. It was Mother Harper's birthday and the auxiliary presented her with an orchid and a "happy birthday" decorated cake.

Gifts were presented to her by her many friends in the organization.

Plans were made for a Christmas party for the veterans at the Veterans' Memorial hospital of San Francisco. Entertainment, gifts, ice cream and cake will be given out to the veterans in hopes to bring some much needed happiness to them through the Christmas holidays.

Leonora O'Neill, chairman of this affair and of each monthly visit to the hospital, has given much of her time and effort to make this a large evening for them. This party is to take place Wednesday evening, Dec. 17, from 6:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. Any member wishing to attend may contact Mrs. O'Neill, PL 5-0468, or the Madam President, Dolores Warren, PL 5-3658.

Plans are underway for the Ladies Auxiliary's own annual Christmas party at the Eagles' hall, Dec. 23, at 3346 San Jose avenue.

Damage Suits

Three damage suits, totaling $241,000 were filed last week against the city of South San Francisco as a result of the Colma creek flood that inundated the Starlight drive-in theatre last January 26. Also named defendant in the suits was Arthur W. Baum, San Francisco contractor, who constructed a bridge over the creek.

Manager of the theatre, Joseph Van Arkel, who lived in an apartment at the theatre, said he and his wife left their home in a rowboat when the creek broke its banks and flooded the theatre. The flood swept silt, soil and debris over the theatre property.

Party Is Sponsored By Executive Board

Another Westlake PTA canasta party will be held Dec. 12. The Christmas Canasta party, sponsored by the executive board under the chairmanship of Mrs. Harold Epstein, will be held at the Westlake clubhouse, Friday evening, Dec. 12, at 7:45 p.m. Due to limited space, reservations must be made and are open only to PTA members until Dec. 4; after that date reservations are open to all. The tickets will be 75 cents and can be obtained by calling one of the following members of the Executive Board:

Mrs. Harold Epstein, PL 5-3046; Mrs. Howard A. Dunbar—PL 5-5100; Mrs. Earl W. Peasley—PL 5-8638; Mrs. Francis Gates—PL 5-3684; Mrs. Sanford Schoenfeld—PL 5-8672.

A turkey and other prizes will be awarded. Refreshments will be served. The proceeds from this party are to pay for the coffee urns recently bought for the school. Tickets may also be purchased at the next PTA meeting which will be held at Jefferson high school auditorium Thursday evening, Dec. 4.

Make your reservations early and join in the good fun with your friends and neighbors.

HILLSIDE PTA ENJOYS TALK BY DIRECTOR FROM SCHOOL FOR BLIND

The regular meeting of the Hillside PTA was held Nov. 18 at the Colma School, with Mrs. A. J. Nagy, president, presiding.

Among general business of the evening was a report from the coffee urn committee. The Urn was bought and used at this meeting, it being the first anniversary of the Hillside PTA. The hot-dog (food sales) chairman, Mrs. Fred Bertetta, gave a report of her committee. Mrs. Chas. Hansen, Membership chairman gave a report on the membership.

At this time the organization has a membership of 230 and would like to double that with a possible 500 students.

Mrs. A. J. Gaggero, Mrs. Fred Bertetta and Mrs. Joseph Verducci, were the committee to purchase the coffee urn. Mrs. Frank Klassen, gave out the programs for the year. The programs listed are interesting and following the theme of the year.

Speaker of the evening was Rose Resnick, executive director for the recreation of the School for the Blind, who spoke to a full house held spell-bound by her narrations. Due to her magnetic personality and remarkable adjustment to her handicap, she has been a great inspiration to the blind organization.

She was accompanied by Nina Brandt, attending nurse. She is Activities director, with a regular nurses degree and specialized in pediatrics. She has done additional work at the Letterman hospital. She told of the work she and Miss Resnick have done to educate the Blind, pointing out that to be blind is not to be helpless. The film, "Enchanted Hills," was shown, it is a camp for blind children in northern California, where the blind children are given a vacation of fun with education attached. Miss Resnick also played the Warsaw Concerto. The audience paid her a tribute of applause which was richly deserved.

ONE MILLION POUNDS CLOTHING IS NEEDED FOR KOREA THIS MONTH

Increased demands for clothing in Korea and elsewhere upon Save the Children Federation representatives have made it necessary for the world child welfare organization to secure an additional one million pounds of clothing this month, Dr. John R. Voris, California state director announced this week.

In response to the federation's appeal, many California schools will observe the Federation's eleventh annual clothing crusade with a "bundle week" scheduled in most California centers for the week of December 1st to 5th when children have been asked to bring warm, usable garments and shoes to school.

More Than 1,000,000
It is anticipated that more than 1,000,000 garments will be given by California school children during this period, Voris said.

The clothing will be distributed by Save the Children Federation in handicapped rural areas of the United States, on Indian reservations, in western Europe, the far east and the near east.

Child war victims in Korea, Finland, France, Greece, Austria, Germany, Italy and Lebanon will be overseas beneficiaries. In the United States clothing is distributed in a carefully-planned self-help program in needy rural areas of eight southern states in which the federation operates its school sponsorship program.

Leading Citizen Work
Committees of leading citizens, district, county and local school superintendents and members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and other organizations have assisted in making arrangements for the clothing collection.

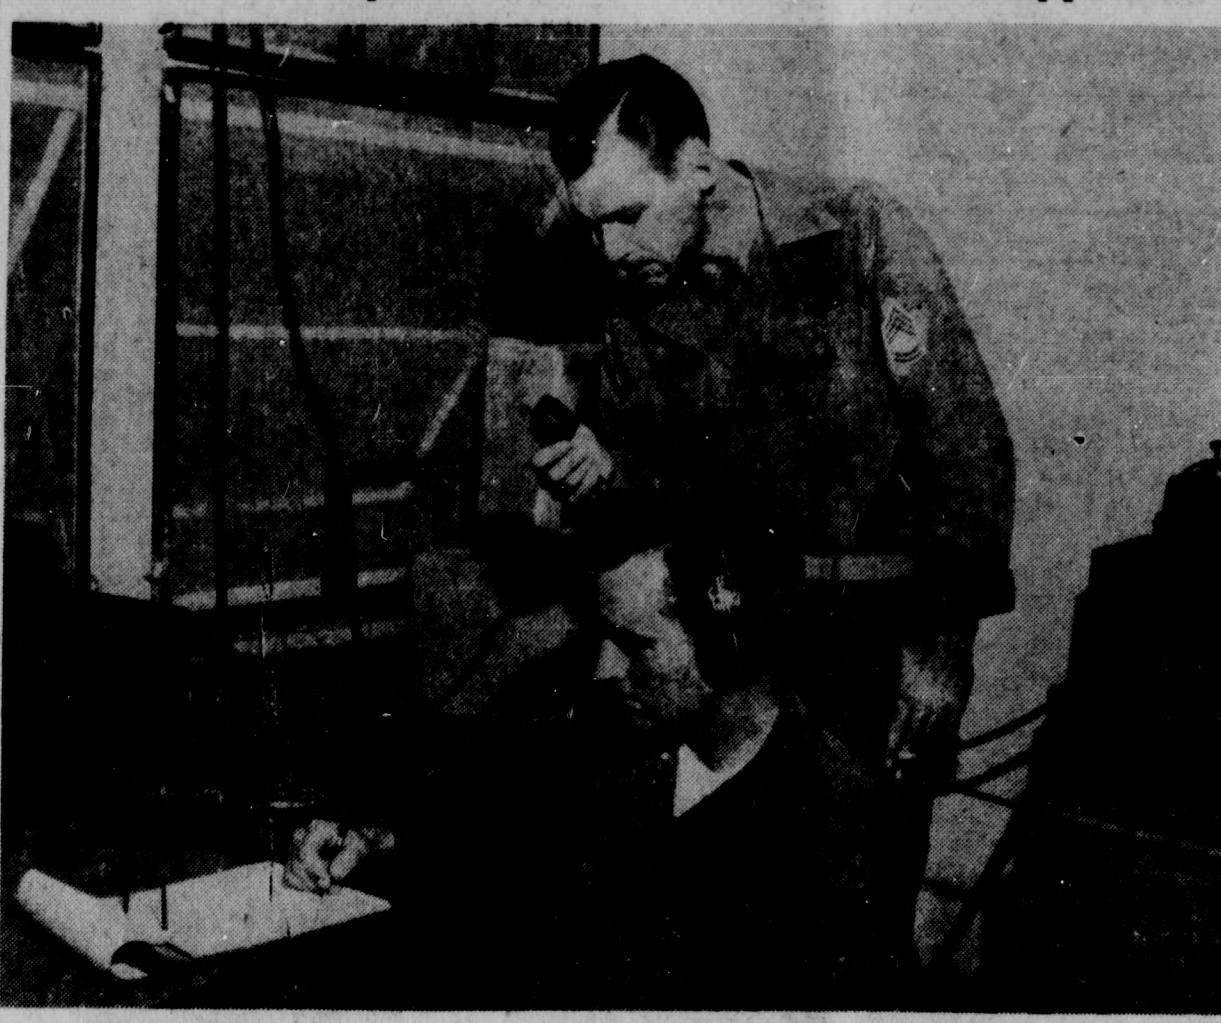

Motor transport associations in northern and southern California have agreed to assist in transporting the clothing to central distribution points, and local transportation assistance is being sought to bring the garments from the schools to central shipping locations, Voris said.

Many prominent citizens and school authorities have accepted membership in the Save the Children committees throughout California.

John Lagomarsino Named President Of Western Fairs

John A. Lagomarsino, president of Ventura county fair, Ventura, was elected president of Western Fairs association today at the closing session of the 30th annual convention held in San Francisco. R. M. C. Fullenwider, manager of Orange county fair, Santa Ana, and Riverside county fair, Indio, was named vice-president; Louis S. Merrill, of Sacramento, was reappointed general manager, and Rose E. President Lagomarsino said fair people are optimistic because of indications that business conditions in the west will be generally good next year, an intensified program by industry to reach the great western market with new ideas and articles that can best be demonstrated at fairs, and a growing public interest in fairs as shown by increasing attendance and entries.

"Release from present day tensions and emotional strain is being found by people attending fairs through participation in prize competition, or in such activities as square dancing, model railroad building and other group hobbies," he continued.

"In fact, attending fairs is becoming a great western hobby, which is recognized by educators and students of Americana as being good for the future of agriculture, industry and the individual," the Western Fairs president concluded.

Safety Council Gives Life Saving Formula

The National Safety Council today announced a nationwide Christmas saving plan to stop accidents.

"If every American will join this savings plan before the Christmas holidays, a real yuletide bonus—human life—will be paid," said Ned H. Dearborn, Council president.

160 Groups Join
The campaign has been joined by more than 160 national organizations, and by city and state public officials and civil leaders. They will unite in creating an awareness of the special holiday hazards, and will enlist voluntary cooperation from every American to hold accidents to a minimum this Christmas.

The year-end holiday season is the most dangerous period of the year, Mr. Dearborn said, and accidents annually mar the celebration in thousands of homes. Traffic accident deaths on both Christmas eve and Christmas day are about twice as high as the annual daily average.

Higher Toll?
This year, with the holiday consisting of four days for many persons, the toll could be even higher than the 351 traffic deaths reported during the four-day Christmas weekend last year, Mr. Dearborn warned.

"Travel is especially heavy over long holidays, which encourage traditional family get-togethers even when the members must drive considerable distance," he said. "The festive spirit of the season, plus the normal winter hazards of bad weather, slippery roads and longer periods of darkness create added danger."

Precautions

For a safe and merry Christmas, the National Safety Council suggests these precautions:

1. Driving or walking, put the Christmas spirit of "good will toward men" into practical use by being extra courteous to others. And take your time!
2. If streets are icy or slippery, keep your speed down and your caution up.
3. If you imbibe Christmas spirit in liquid form, stay away from the steering wheel of a car.
4. Avoid home hazards, too. Don't use candles, be sure tree lights and wiring are in good condition and keep gift wrappings away from the fireplace or other sources of heat.

BETHEL LUTHERAN WILL GIVE THANKS IN SPECIAL SERVICE

The occasion should prompt everyone to come and express gratitude to God for the rich blessings they have received.

The Rev. Herbert P. Schroeder will preach on the subject: "The Grace of Gratitude."

This is the first opportunity the Bayshore PTA has had to celebrate a 17th District meeting in their school. Christmas decorations to dominate the scene have been planned by Mrs. L. V. Ottinger, president and chairman. A full program of discussions, lectures and music is scheduled. Refreshments will be served by the Bayshore PTA.

Health Officer Checks Sewage Plant Site Here

Eugene Howell, engineer for the county health department, inspected the proposed site for the sewage plant in Daly City this week along with officers of the sewage district.

Asked to give his opinion if the state water pollution board would object to wells being placed adjacent to the sewage plant, Howell said he thought the move would be approved.

The two wells will be financed through money made available by passage of the recent water bond issue.

State Board of Managers Endorses Rule Urging Display of Flags on Holidays

Seventeenth District California Congress of Parents and Teachers reports that the State board of managers this week endorsed a resolution presented by the legislation chairman, urging families and schools to display the American flag on national holidays, and to reaffirm love of this country and our heritage of freedom, by reviewing the story and words and music of our National anthem.

The resolution, which came as a special recognition of Thanksgiving Day and American Education Week, grew from a realization on that many citizens do not appreciate the privileges and opportunities that have come down to us through the sacrifices of our forebearers.

Concern over the recent price rise in milk as it effects the PTA nutrition program for children prompted the Board to confer with State government agencies in an attempt to change the price-fixing legislation, and to relax minimum controls so that schools where deliveries amount to less than $250 per month may share in the reduced prices available to purchasers of larger amounts. As a result of the recent increase in price, it was reported that milk purchases have dropped considerably.

In addition, PTA's throughout the state, when purchasing milk for undernourished children, are faced with the problem of raising more money to continue their nutrition program.

FAMILY COUNCILS, WORSHIP ARE BIGFACTS IN BUILDING HOME

"Family council and family worship are big facts in building a stronger community and nation," the Rev. Ira Smith, a recent speaker of the Seventeenth District California Congress of Parents and Teachers, said.

"What we are," children reflect, "tomorrow's creeping in—what it's going to bring depends upon us," Mr. Smith, minister of Christ Church of Burlingame, stressed the need of tolerance of our own man; tolerance and confidence rather than tolerance to the life of indifference.

Facing are Dr. Vincent Ciolek, principal of Sequoia High School where the meeting was held, and the hospitality of school and spoke of the influence of education on the young people to face the serious aspects of the future. The Sequoia capella choir, under the direction of Mr. Robert Clark, sang several numbers, concluding with a delightful arrangement of "The Night Before Christmas."

No appointment is needed.
